POLAR EXPEDITION.

The Wellman Party Make the Start.

They Will Establish Headquarters on the Northwest Corner of Spitzbergen.

New York, March 14.—The White Star line steamship which sails from this port today will carry on board four gentlemen from Washington, who are the organizers of "The Wellman North Polar Expedition." They are: Leader, Walter Wellman, the well known newspaper correspondent; Astronomical observer, Prof. Owen B. French, of the United States coast and geodetic survey; medical officer, Dr. Thomas B. Mohun, of Washington, D. C.; artist and photographer, Charles C. Dodge, of the bureau of construction and repair division of the navy department. "After leaving Norway," Mr. Wellman said, "we will proceed to the northwest corner of Spitzbergen, latitude eighty degrees, where we will establish our headquarters. On departing from Spitzbergen we will leave supplies sufficient for the subsistence of our whole party during the whole of the following winter, if it should be necessary, a contingency which I do not in the remotest way believe likely, but we do it as a precaution. As nearly as I can now reckon, about the 15th of May our steamer will take us to the southern edge of the ice bank of the frozen sea. Wherever this shall be, we shall disembark with fourteen men, three boats, five alluminum sledges, making a total weight, exclusive of ourselves and animals, of 5,500 pounds. The march will then begin toward the north. The party will proceed for twenty or twenty-five days together and then divide, one half, which will be called the sporting party, returning to headquarters at Spitzebergen and the remaining seven, composing the Polar party, will push on for fifty or sixty days' march northward and penetrate as far northward within the north polar area as may be necessary to find out what exists there, or, in other words, to solve the Polar problem, as it is called by scientists. We carry instruments from the United States coast and geodetic survey at Washington, and wish to glean important and new facts in regard to meteorology, the magnetics, tides, and all those points of scientific research."

CONVERT TO CATHOLICISM.

A Wealthy Lady Joins the Roman Catholic Church.

New York March 14.—Mrs. William Arnold, the widowed daughter-in-law of Richard Arnold, of the firm of Arnold, Constable & Co., has become a convert to the Roman Catholic faith. She is about thirty years of age and is possessed of $2,000,000. Mrs. Arnold was a member of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, whose rector, Rev. Henry A. Adams, recently went over to the Catholic communion. The Church of the Redeemer is a high church. Mass is said each day, confessions are heard, incense is burned and vestments, lights and crosses are used in public worship. While Father Adams was rector Mrs. Arnold gave large sums of money for the support of the church.

WATCH THE SUIT.

Defeat Will Mean Permanent Retirement for Breckinridge.

Lexington, March 14.—It is generally believed here that if Colonel Breckinridge is defeated in the trial at Washington he will never come back to Kentucky and will not be a candidate for renomination. The details of the trial have caused such a strong feeling against him throughout the district and the state that he would stand but little chance of renomination should Miss Pollard gain the suit. His old friends and those who are holding office under his patronage still declare they will vote for him, no matter what the trial develops, but most of his ordinary supporters have fallen away from his standard.

FATHER M'CLOSKEY.

Suit Brought for His Services as Priest.

New York, March 14.—Mary E. McCloskey, as administratrix of her son, the late Father John McCloskey, has begun suit against Bishop McDonnell in the supreme court, in Brooklyn, for $9,950 for salary alleged to be due the priest at the time of his death. Father McCloskey served as rector of St. Bridget's church from October, 1882, until his death on January 22, 1893. His salary, Mrs. McCloskey avers, was fixed at $1,000 a year, but altogether he only received $290.

Valuable Discovery.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 14.—Prof. Otto Lugger, in charge of the Minnesota experimental station at St. Anthony park, has discovered what is likely to prove a valuable test for tuberculosis in cattle. Numerous experiments show that if the animal is healthy no rise in temperature will follow the injection of Koch's lymph, while if affected with tuberculosis, even in its incipient stages, there is an instant rise in temperature.

Bomb at the Door.

Nanaimo, B. C., March 14.—An unknown person placed a bomb at the door of the house of Manager Sharp, of the Wellington mine, last night. The bomb did some damage to the building but no one was hurt.

Foul Play Feared.

Tunkhannock, Pa., March 14.—Tunkhannock is much mystified over the disappearance of Henry Harding, one of the most prominent lawyers of the place. He left town two weeks ago, ostensibly to attend the Grand Army encampment at Philadelphia. Foul play is feared.

A CRUEL ORDER.

Telephone Girls Must Shorten Their Office Dresses.

They Reluctantly Submit, Feeling That Short Skirts Were Better Than Short Wages.

Chicago, March 14.—The local manager of the main Chicago telephone exchange who, a year ago, promulgated an edict that all the girls employed in the Chicago exchange should uniformly dress in black, has just issued another remarkable ukase, which reads something like this: "Hereafter the girls employed in the main office shall wear their skirts so that they will clear the floor by three inches." There were many impromptu indignation meetings held in the cloak rooms, but no protests were offered to the order. "It would be of no use," said one of the girls, "the times are hard and we can better afford to cut off our skirts than to cut off our wages." Manager Tate explains that this new move is to prevent the raising of dust in the office, which settles upon and impairs the working of the instruments. "The girls walk briskly about," he said, "their skirts sweeping along the floor and stirring up the dust. This lodges in the instruments and causes trouble. Our patrons are annoyed and delayed. We have to think of our patrons, you know, as well as of our employes."

DEATH OF A VETERAN.

Theatrical Manager John T. Ford Stricken Down.

The Man Who Established the Famous Theater Wherein President Lincoln Was Assassinated.

Baltimore, Md., March 14.—The veteran theatrical manager, John T. Ford, proprietor of Ford's Grand Opera house, died at 6 o'clock this morning. Mr. Ford was attacked with grip about three weeks ago, but within the past week was thought to be convalescent. Mr. Ford was, in point of service, the oldest theatrical manager in this country, having been known in that capacity as early as 1851. He was brought into national prominence in 1865, when manager of Ford's theater, Washington, where President Lincoln was assassinated. He was sixty-five years of age.

FLAMES AT WORK.

An Insane Asylum Threatened—Barrel Factory Burned.

White Plains, N. Y., March 14.—The fire department of this village was summoned at 10 o'clock this morning to Harrison, where several barns on the property of the St. Vincent retreat for the insane are burning. The flames threaten to reach the main building, where one hundred inmates are cared for. The inmates are being removed to a place of safety.

West Superior, Wis., March 14.—Fire broke out today in a large barrel factory here and five men were badly injured.

INSURGENTS SURRENDER.

DaGama Takes Refuge With the Portuguese.

Washington, March 14.—The state department has received the following cable from Minister Thompson confirming the Associated Press advices of this morning.

Rio de Janeiro, March 14.
Secretary Gresham, Washington:

After the shore batteries had fired upon the insurgent ships for thirty minutes the latter surrendered unconditionally, DaGama having previously gone abroad the Portuguese man-of-war.

[Signed] Thompson.

END OF A NOBLE LIFE.

Rev. William M. Grubbs, Who Was Fifty Years a Minister.

Russellville, March, 14.—Rev. Wm. M. Grubbs, for more than fifty years an active minister of the Methodist church, being at different times a member of the Kentucky conference, Illinois conference and the Southeast Indiana conference, is dead, aged seventy-nine.

Fifty Years Old.

Rome, March 14.—King Humbert is celebrating his fiftieth birthday today. Flags are flying and bells ringing, and business is largely suspended. Early this morning the king received congratulations from his family, and later from his ministers. Congratulations came by wire from the English, German and Russian courts, as well as from the diplomatic representatives of Italy to foreign countries. Tonight the king will give a banquet to his ministers.

FREDDY IS MARRIED.

The Wealthy and Celebrated Clubman Tires of Single Life.

At Noon Today He Became a Benedict, and Miss Louise Morris a Bride.

Baltimore, March 14.—Fred Gebhard, the wealthy and celebrated club man of New York, has become a benedict. His marriage with Miss Louise H. Morris, of this city, took place at 12:40 today in the presence of a select company, only about 120 invitations to the ceremony having been issued, while not to exceed seventy-five attended. Shortly before noon Mr Gebhard, accompanied by De Courcey Forbes, of New York, his best man, and John G. Follansbee, who had come all the way from Mexico to be present at his friend's wedding, repaired to the Morris family residence, 207 West Franklin street. All the guests were assembled in the parlor and their marriage was solemnized. Miss Morris attended by her sister, Miss Mildred Morris, entered the parlor leaning on her father's arm and advanced to where the Rev. Maltbie D. Babcock, pastor of the Brown Memorial Presbyterian church was standing with Mr. Gebhard and Mr. Forbes on his left hand. Mr. Babcock took her hand from her father's arm and placed it in that of Mr. Gebhard and after an invocation, performed the ceremony of marriage. Mr. Morris gave the bride away. Miss Morris was attired for the occasion in a gown of solid white satin made with full train, high in the throat, with long sleeves and trimmed with old lace. Succeeding the wedding the hospitalities of the family were extended the guests in a repast which partook more of the character of an elaborate luncheon than of what is known as wedding breakfast. Among those present were Mrs. J. C. Van Dyke and Miss Van Dyke, of Louisburg, Pa., grandmother and aunt of the bride; Mrs. Frederick Nielson, sister of the groom, and her two daughters; J. B. Nielson, Mrs Archie Bell, of New York.

A HORRIBLE CRIME.

The Little City of Redwood, Australia, the Scene.

The Town Clerk Shoots and Kills the Mayor and Then Commits Suicide.

Victoria, B. C., March 13.—The steamer Warrimo, from Australian ports, brings word of a most sensational fatality at the little city of Redwood, the mayor of which, William Paisley, was shot and mortally wounded February 12 by William Redfern, city clerk, who, when he saw his victim could not live, sent four bullets into his own brain. The reason given was that the council clerk, smarting under fancied grievances, chief of which was a reduction of salary, took revenge on the chief magistrate, who had sanctioned a general cut in the civic pay list owing to the hard times. After his suicide it was found he had been in possession of no fewer than three loaded revolvers and that in his coat he had a special pocket made for a small French stiletto or double edged dagger. It was also discovered after the tragedy that he had destroyed the minute books of the council since the incorporation of the city. Other facts confirm the theory that he was not responsible for his actions at the time of the commission of the crime.

MANY DAYS OVER DUE.

Grave Apprehensions Regarding the Safety of the Apollo.

New York, March 14.—The Wilson line steamship Apollo has not been seen or heard of since she left this port for Antwerp, February 11. She is now fourteen days over due. There is much anxiety in shipping circles concerning her fate. The Apollo was commanded by Captain Sikes and carried a crew of thirty-seven hands, all told. She is of about 4,000 tons and is worth nearly a quarter of a million dollars. It is possible the steamer might have been disabled and drifted out of the regular steamship route, pending repairs.

THE STRIKE ENDED.

Miners at Charleston Give Up the Struggle.

Charleston, W. Va., March 14.—The striking miners of this valley will hold a meeting at Montgomery tomorrow to declare the strike off, and they will return to work at the reduced prices. The long fight between the miners and operators will thus be ended. The operators being the victors, the Edgewater, Great Kanawha and Carleton miners resumed operations yesterday and others are ready to follow.

VERY DESPONDENT.

Representative Wilson's Condition Far From Encouraging.

Washington, March 14.—Dispatches received here from the son of Representative Wilson, now in the City of Mexico, are far from reassuring as to the condition of the latter. He is suffering from despondency, induced by an enfeebled constitution.

Republicans Win.

Rochester, N. Y., March 14.—For the first time in forty years the republicans elected their entire ticket at the charter election held in the village of Clyde, Wayne county, yesterday.

Death of Richard Trumbull.

New Haven, Conn., March 14.—The friends of Richard L. Trumbull, of New Haven, have received the announcement of his death at Talcahuano, Chili. Mr. Trumbull has been a resident of Chili for the last five years and a member of the national deputies during the recent Chilian troubles.

JUDGE JENKINS' REPLY.

He Will Appear Before an Investigating Committee.

The Senate Adjourns in the Midst of Discussion on the Seigniorage Bill—Other News.

Washington, March 14.—Judge Jenkins, of the Seventh circuit court of the United States circuit, has replied to Mr. Boatner, chairman of the congressional committee recently named to investigate Judge Jenkins' injunction restraining employes of the Northern Pacific railroad from striking or labor leaders from directing such strike. Judge Jenkins' letter is in response to Representative Boatner's notice that the committee would like to be advised as to the judge's desires as to appearing before the committee. The judge responds that so far as the writs of injunction are concerned they are matters of court record and that copies of the writs will be sent to the committee if they desire them. Judge Jenkins says he understands the inquiry to have reference only to the legal correctness of the order of the court, and if such be the case, he can see no good reason why he should appear before the committee. If, however, the committee intends to inquire into charges affecting his personal or official integrity, Judge Jenkins says he will appear before the committee and will meet and refute the charges.

At 12:30 p. m. Mr. Harris, having handed over the gavel to Senator Gallinger, asked that the senate take up the consideration of unfinished business—the seigniorage bill, as a vote was to be taken at 2 o'clock on the motion of Senator Allison to reconsider the vote by which the bill was ordered to be read a third time, and possibly after that on the motion of Senator Manderson to commit the bill to the finance committee. Taking these things into consideration, he asked that the senate should immediately take up the bill. This being agreed to, it was expected that Senator Dolph would proceed to read the extracts which Senator Allen yesterday objected to having printed and which Senator Dolph was about to read when the senate adjourned. Mr. Dolph, however, announced that as Senator Allen had withdrawn his objections, he had nothing further to say.

The president today sent the following nominations to the senate: G. M. Adams, of Kentucky, to be pension agent at Louisville, Ky.; R. A. Sheridan, of Oregon, to be receiver of public moneys at Roseburg, Ore.

The senate committee on finance failed again today to reach an agreement as to when the tariff bill should be reported to the senate. Some of the members express the opinion, however, that it would be finally acted upon during the first days of next week. Several features of the bill were taken up at random, and on some of these the debate was very animated. Objections were made to the publication of the proceedings of the committee and a resolution pledging the members to secrecy was adopted.

The house committee on election of president and vice president has agreed to report next Wednesday the bill providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

WESTERN LEAGUE.

The Association Closing Up the Deal Today.

First Games Will be Called April 25—Trouble Over the Assignment of Players.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 14.—President Johnson called the meeting of the Western league to order at the Plankinton hotel today. Owing to the illness of Manager Sharsig the Milwaukee club was empowered to represent Indianapolis by proxy. The schedule report was first taken up and will probably be adopted this afternoon. The schedule will begin April 25. A stopping date will be selected, but there will likely be a number of changes made regarding holiday and Sunday games before it is adopted. There promises to be a lively fight over players in Detroit, Grand Rapids and Milwaukee. Manager Vanderbeck claims Catcher Lohman is under contract to Milwaukee, but President Killilea says he will not be given up. Grand Rapids claims Carroll and George whom Vanderbeck says he has signed. Pitcher Foreman will be awarded to Toledo, although Indianapolis claimed to have first sent in his name. The season will consist of 126 championship games. President Hart, of the Chicago club, is here looking for dates with Western league teams.

QUEEN VICTORIA

Embarks on Her Journey to Florence, Italy.

London, March 14.—The queen, accompanied by Prince and Princess Henry of Battenburg, left Sheerness for Flushing, Holland, on board the royal yacht Victor and Albert, this morning. All the ships in the harbor were decorated, rainbow fashion, with flags. The royal yacht was conveyed by the warship, Australia. Her majesty is on her way to Florence, Italy, where she will stay for some time.

Edward Sullivan, aged six years, died this noon at the home of his parents, No. 103 East Main street. The cause of his death was brain fever.

ZELLA WAS HERE.

She and Her Husband Have a Falling Out.

Who is Mrs. Lee and What Caused the Trouble Between the Couple?—A Mystery Unsolved.

Wabash, Ind., March 14, 3 p. m.—Zella Nicolaus and "Guardian" Ruhman have parted. Last night they had a dispute and Ruhman used his fist, while Miss Nicolaus employed her parasol as a means of defense. The parents of Miss Nicolaus and the officers were compelled to quell the matter. Mrs. Ellie Wetherbee, a widowed sister of Zella, took sides with Ruhman and later she and Ruhman disappeared simultaneously. It is believed both went to Chicago. Zella remains here and says she has made secure her trunks, which contain six thousand dollars worth of jewelry and clothing.

ZELLA IN FORT WAYNE.

The fair haired Zella Nicholaus has flashed her meteor-like presence upon Fort Wayne and departed as she came—in a hurry.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs Al Ruhman arrived in this city by the Pennsylvania road from New York and at once took a hack for the Wayne hotel, where she joined her husband, who has been in the city for a day or so under the name of A. Loeb. Mrs. Ruhman was assigned to the room occupied by her husband, No. 100, and from what can be learned the meeting between the couple was not an affectionate one. They evidently quarrelled, for Zella ordered a hack and was soon taking a drive over the city all by herself and evidently laboring under a pout. A few minutes before 4 o'clock Zella drove to the Wabash depot with the intention of taking the train for her home in Wabash. She had often been in this city and did not know that the train had changed time. She was greatly chagrined to know that there would be no west bound train before 8 o'clock and biting her lip exclaimed in a pet, "I don't know how to kill time until the next train!"

In the lady's waiting room at the depot Zella chanced to meet a Fort Wayne gentleman whom she had known here some years ago. She went up to him and the two were soon chatting together.

"Do you think I am getting old?" asked the fair Mrs. Ruhman.

"No," said her companion, "but I did think, from the pictures I had seen in the papers, you were getting dreadfully homely."

To this thrust Zella laughingly remarked that none of the cuts in the newspapers were likenesses of her, but were impositions.

"I have a sister who looks something like me, and the papers have printed her likeness several times," said she.

Zella was dressed in a traveling costume of dark material and looked as charming as she did when she used to visit here as a girl of sixteen. She speaks with a decidedly English accent, which she has lately acquired and has an aristocratic bearing. Her diamond rings are really wonders and she wears at least seven or eight. An emerald set with diamonds and worn on the middle finger would attract attention anywhere for its beauty and value.

The presence of the noted adventuress in the city was known to two members of The Sentinel staff late in the afternoon and an attempt was made to locate her, but she was still riding over the city in her cab. At 7 o'clock in the evening the hack drove up to the Wabash depot and Mrs. Ruhman bought a ticket to Wabash and then hastily drove away.

All afternoon the husband kept in the background, and it is said he spent the time in a saloon trying to drown his sorrow. Another report has it that Ruhman was following his wife over the city, but that he could not locate her, as she kept out of his way.

A few moments before 8 o'clock Zella's hack drove up to the Wabash depot, and as she was about to alight Ruhman stepped up to the hack and attempted to enter. His wife tried to escape by the other door, but he ran around the back. Just then an officer stepped up and inquired what the trouble was.

"He wants to whip me," whimpered the woman. "We have been quarreling all afternoon."

Ruhman wanted his wife arrested, but the officer, having no warrant refused, as the woman was guilty of no crime.

In a few moments the train came in and both got aboard the cars, although the quarrel was kept up and both occupied different seats in the coach.

WHO IS MRS. LEE.

Accompanying Mr. Loeb, or rather Ruhman, to this city from New York was a woman who was registered at the Wayne as Mrs. Lee, of New York. She was assigned to room No. 84. No one seems to know who she is and it is surmised that she has something to do with the trouble which has sprung up between Zella and her husband.

RUHMAN HERE.

This morning at 11 o'clock Ruhman returned to this city and is now at the Wayne hotel. A Sentinel reporter endeavored to get him to talk, but he denied that his name was Ruhman, and said it was Allen.

It has been learned that Mrs. Lee is none other than Mrs. Ruhman's sister. From a reliable source it is also learned that Zella is again in the city, having come up on the same train with her husband this morning.

A gentleman who knows whereof he speaks, said this morning: "There is a big row brewing between Zella and Ruhman, and the whole matter will come out in the courts. Further developments will be watched with interest.

THE IRISH FLAG

Will Not Wave From Brooklyn's City Hall, Says Schieren.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 14.—Mayor Schieren expressed himself today as fully determined to maintain the position he had taken in refusing to allow the Irish flag to be raised on the city hall on the 17th of March, St. Patrick's day, notwithstanding the resolution passed at the meeting of the board of aldermen Monday. Without his approval the resolution is inoperative, the passage of the resolution over his veto by a two-thirds vote cannot be done until ten days shall have elapsed, by which time St. Patrick's day will have been passed. Mayor Schieren says he is actuated only by what he believes to be the spirit of true Americanism.

STUDENTS GRADUATE.

Fifteenth Annual Commencement of the Medical College.

Ten Full Fledged Doctors Receive Their Diplomas—Appropriate Exercises at the Temple.

The Masonic Temple was well filled with a cultured audience last evening, the occasion being the fifteenth annual commencement of the Fort Wayne College of Medicine.

The members of the graduating class, ten in number, the trustees and members of the faculty occupied seats on the stage. Music was furnished by Reineke's orchestra and was the best heard in the Temple for a long time.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Samuel Wagenhals, who delivered a touching invocation, asking the blessings of God for the young men and women who were about to complete their school days and enter upon the high duties and responsibilities of a noble calling.

Miss Leo Long followed with a vocal solo which was finely rendered, after which Dr. C. B. Stemen, dean of the college, addressed a few remarks on the work of the college since it first began its useful career, fifteen years ago. He said the college had reason to congratulate itself on the work of the past. During the time it had been in existence it had enrolled 455 students from many states in the union and of this number only 135 had been given the degree of doctor of medicine. "Over this," said Dr. Stemen, "the college has reason to be proud, for it is a well recognized fact that the finest medical colleges in the United States never turn out more than 45 per cent of their students as full fledged graduates. The Fort Wayne college has even done better than this, for its percentage is but 30. When the Fort Wayne college was organized it was with the firm resolve to make the standard high and this has been done. Since the establishment of the college nineteen ladies have graduated and of this record the faculty has every reason to be proud, as only the old foggy, behind-the-times colleges bar out women."

After a selection by the orchestra Hon. Chas. McCulloch introduced the Hon. Henry Colerick, who delivered a very neat address. He said he had a disposition to shirk his duty owing to a press of business, but thought it would never do on an occasion of this kind, when the young graduates were going out into the world with the many admonitions to "do their duty." The speaker said that as a citizen of Fort Wayne he had noticed the growth of the college and that he was glad to say that the institution stood at the very highest in the estimation of medical men all over the country. "Adherence to duty and hard work," said the speaker, "will accomplish more than all else. No man or woman can succeed in the affairs of life except by hard work." Mr. Colerick referred to the fact that in all his law practice he had never taken up a suit for malpractice. On behalf of the citizens of Fort Wayne the speaker wished the graduates God speed and all success in their work.

After a duet by the Shrader sisters, the ceremony of conferring diplomas was gone through with and the obligations of the profession imposed upon the graduates. The distribution of prizes and floral offerings then followed and in conclusion Dr. K. K. Wheelock delivered the valedictory. Dr. Wheelock's address was scholarly, abounded in wit and was a model of literary composition but it was marred by allusions which were in no way in keeping with the dignity of the occasion and were entirely uncalled for. He said the first newspaper writer, 200 years ago, was a liar and that the heritage had not departed from the newspaper profession.

Dr. Wheelock's remarks were not sanctioned by the other medical men present who are liberal enough to admit that the press has created the civilization which alone has made the advancement of the medical profession possible.

The names and residences of those who last night received their degrees are as follows: Emma W. Ball, St. Louis; Wesley L. Hines, Auburn, Ind.; Ernest Kohn, Wilshire, Ohio; Charles H. Lewis, Butler; Hugh Morgan, England; John W. Moor, Auburn, Ind.; Joseph E. Moore, Mount Hope, Ind.; W. Frank Schrader, Ohio; Allice B Williams, Columbia City, Ind.; Charles L. Woods, Van Wert, Ohio.

The Alumni association met yesterday afternoon at the College of Medicine and held an interesting meeting. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Dr. Moore, LaPaz, Ind.

First Vice President—Dr. Kaufman, Monroeville, Ind.

Second Vice President—Dr. Rebecca McCann, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Third Vice President—Dr. John Kapple, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Secretary—Dr. Geo. C. Stemen, Fort Wayne.

Treasurer—Dr. W. M. Enslen, Fort Wayne.

Among the visiting physicians were: Dr. J. H. Wilson, Plymouth; Dr. Allen Moore, LaPaz; Dr. Walter Carver, La Otto; Dr. Kaufman, Monroeville; Dr. U. S. Williams, and others.

DID NOT QUARREL.

But They Talked Pretty Sharp to Each Other.

London, March 14.—The Globe this afternoon reports that a thrilling meeting between Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt and Lord Rosebery took place today. The Globe says, that if the two distinguished statesmen did not quarrel, they at least told each other some hard facts. It is stated that there is no doubt that yesterday evening's demonstration was intended to be a demonstration against Lord Rosebery, and the latter is said to be fully aware of this fact.

THREW HIM OUT.

Jack Waters Runs Things to Suit Himself.

A Douglas Avenue Lady Followed by Two Tough Tramps—Police Court News.

Yesterday afternoon a tough young man living north of this city came to Fort Wayne and at once got on a big drunk. He went to Kieler's saloon, on Columbia street, and proceeded to run things to suit himself. He picked the bartender up and throwing him out ran the place for two hours. Officer George McCrory was called and placed the fellow under arrest. At the station he gave the name of George Rogers, but the officers say his right name is Jack Waters. The prisoner later put up bail and went home.

FOLLOWED A LADY.

Last evening a well known lady living on Douglas avenue, ran into the music store at the corner of Calhoun street and Douglas avenue and reported that two tough tramps had followed her up the street. In a few moments Officer Smith was notified and placed two young men under arrest, not far from the corner. One was drunk and very quarrelsome. At the station they gave the names of Charles Jones and James Riley and were fined $5 and costs each on a charge of vagrancy. Both went to jail.

William Jerome was a plain drunk who paid $1 and costs.

THE COURTS.

The Sievers Suit Against the Peters Box Company.

The case of Louis Sievers against the Peters Box and Lumber company, a suit for $10,000 damages, is being heard before a jury in the circuit court. The suit is the result of an elevator accident in the Pape factory some time ago, the particulars of which were printed at the time. W. G. and Henry Colerick represent the plaintiff and Judge Zollars and J. M. Barrett are for the defense.

Henry Baum begins suit in the superior court against A. L. Randall and J. W. Hayden to recover the value of a bicycle. The case was appealed from the court of Justice France.

The following is the special venire from which a jury for the trial of the Howley murder case will be selected: George Zimmer, of Springfield township; Ellis Dunton, Perry; G. B. Fitch, city; Alvin Dougherty, Madison; James E. Whitney, Madison; John W. Chapman, Madison; Gottlieb Haller, city; James S. Tyler, city; A. D. Brandriff, Wayne; Joseph Tonkle, St. Joe; David L. STILL WORKING.

The Southern Railway Association Trying to Make Peace.

New York March 14.—The Association of Southern Railroads and Steamships in convention in this city is having a hard time in settling the differences between the Louisville and Nashville and Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific railroads. The convention appointed a committee to consider the matter. The committee remained in session until a late hour last night and resumed business early today.

Nothing definite has resulted and the sitting of the committee will be continued. It is expected that they will arrive at some conclusion today.

FOUR YEARS IN THE PEN.

That is the Penalty for Stealing $42,000.

New York March 14.—Lewis J. Hill, ex paying teller of the defunct St. Nicholas bank, who was indicted for the grand larceny of $368 of the banks money, December 20 last, appeared before Recorder Smythe in general sessions today withdrew his plea of not guilty, pleaded guilty of grand larceny in the first degree and was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. The total defalcations discovered by State Bank Examiner Judson aggregate over $42,000.

Glass Works Burning.

Tiffin, Ohio, March 14.—The Sneath glass works are burning, with a probability of their entire destruction. Inadequate water pressure renders the work of firemen valueless.

Dr. Younge is rapidly improving and will soon be out.

St. Patrick's day, March 17, is set for an opening of Bicycles by Morgan & Beach, on Columbia street, and they cordially invite their friends to an inspection of the High Grade Bicycles; the Tribune and Fowler, with truss frame; also a full line of Medium and Low Grade Western Wheel Works' Bicycles, from $90 down to $25, of which they are the exclusive agents for the 1894 patterns, which are light and strong.

Turn your watch back to standard time.

Let the county commissioners turn back the hands on the court house clock at once.

The council is wide awake now, and is pushing public improvements. This is the right thing to do.

Don't wait for others to do so, but turn your watch back to standard time and get in the procession with other cities.

WHATEVER may be charged up against democratic times, all must admit that they have, at least, brought us grand weather.

THE democratic county central committee will meet in the circuit court room Saturday, March 24, to organize and elect a chairman.

ALL the objections to the paving of West Washington street have been overruled by the council and its improvement will be pushed.

THE SENTINEL will hereafter be run on standard time. We are in favor of enforcing all the laws from the 11 o'clock saloon law and the Sunday law to the standard time law.

IN THE hurry and bustle of the times, do not forget that defeat in the city elections is pretty certain to come to the democratic party unless we nominate our best men for the offices.

COUNCILMAN HAYES'S resolution to prohibit any policemen or other officers of the city from filing an affidavit for provoke was adopted by the council last night. The provoke law is getting a good many hard knocks and it deserves them all, for there is no law on the statute books put to a worse use by the courts than it is.

The Duty of Voters.

If any other than a good candidate for mayor is nominated by the democracy of this city, at their primary election on the 7th of next month, the fault will be with the voters of the party, for with them rests the determination of who that candidate will be. Under our system of primaries every democratic voter can express his choice by going to the polls and casting his ballot for his preference. This it is his duty to do, just as much as it is his duty to go to the polls and vote when the election is held in May. The man who gets the most votes at the primaries will be the nominee of the party for mayor, and every voter ought to feel enough interest in the city government under which he lives to go to the primary polls and vote for the candidate whom he believes will make the best chief executive officer of the city.

Too many of the democratic voters make the mistake of not going to the polls at the primary election, saying, "Oh, I'll wait until the ticket is nominated, and then if I don't like it, I will not vote it." This is the wrong way to do. Go to the polls and vote for the candidates and then, perhaps, the right kind of a ticket will be selected. If all good citizens were to be stay-at-home voters, what kind of a ticket would be nominated?

It is important this year that the best men should be selected as candidates for office on the democratic ticket for mayor, for clerk and for councilmen and this will be done if the voters of the party turn out as generally to the primaries as they do on election day. The one is just as important as the other, and it is for this reason that THE SENTINEL will continue to urge the democratic voters to turn out at the primaries and vote for the best men as candidates, not only for mayor but for all the offices.

Let All Adopt Standard Time.

At the meeting of the city council last night Fort Wayne took a big step forward by the passage of a resolution adopting standard time for the regulation of the clocks in the municipal departments of the city. This was brought about by a petition signed by 918 employes of the Pennsylvania company asking that standard time be adopted by the city, and that a committee be appointed by the council to confer with the county commissioners and petition them to cooperate with the movement by regulating the town clock on the court house and the clocks in the various offices and courts according to standard time. All the members of the council voted for the resolution excepting Messrs. W. D. Meyer and Peter Eggeman, and spoke warmly in its favor.

The railroads of the country, stretching as they do across the continent, are governed by standard time because it is the most feasible method by which trains can be run safely and conveniently for the public. Their shops in this city, employing thousands of men, are also governed by this time, as are also the employes and their families in their social relations. Traveling men are also governed by the same time, and in fact so universal has it become that in many of the public places of the city it is found necessary to keep both times—standard time and city time—the differences between the two being twenty and one half minutes at this place.

This leads to confusion and hence it is far more convenient for everybody to adjust our clocks in conformity with standard time. Our time ought to be uniform. In social appointments, in business engagements, all confusion is avoided if one time governs. Ohio was the first state that has adopted standard time, and schools, banks, business houses and churches are rapidly falling into line, and every family must be governed by it for its own convenience. In a few years it will be made the legal time in every state in the union. All the cities around us are governed by standard time. It has come to stay, and Fort Wayne ought to fall into the procession. We have stayed out too long. Let us get there now and stay, and everybody will be better satisfied.

Religions in the United States.

Brillat-Savarin, who complained of the United States nearly 70 years ago because he said it possessed a hundred religions and only one gravy, would find if he lived in our time that his estimate in regard to religions was far too low, however we may have progressed in the matter of gravies. The census of church denominations for 1890 makes the number of different sects 140, not counting Islamism, which made its start in this country through Mohammed Webb after the census was taken. However, Apostle Webb's church is very small, numbering at present only himself, he not having made one single convert, so far as appears.

Of all the different sects, however, Mr. H. K. Carroll, who writes of them in The Forum, tells us that 52 have a following of less than 2,000 members each. One denomination that was on the record 10 years ago has quite disappeared in 1890, and that is the Sandemanians. Who were the Sandemanians anyhow? Most of the small sects are "chips off Methodism, Presbyterianism, Lutheranism and other well known bodies." There are 12 different kinds of Mennonites.

Mr. Carroll says the subjects about which warring church people argue have changed greatly. They used to be doctrinal points, such as free will, the federal headship of Adam, etc. Now nobody thinks much about the headship of Adam. Christian believers are exercised in mind in our time chiefly over the plenary inspiration of the Scriptures and the higher criticism of the Bible. Microscopic points of difference have shriveled in importance, and evangelical Christians are nearer a common ground of faith than they ever were before.

What Mr. Carroll calls nonevangelical Protestantism includes apparently the Unitarians chiefly. Of these nonevangelical Protestants there are 183,000; of evangelical ones, 13,670,000. In works of Christian charity and helpfulness to humanity Mr. Carroll finds that the evangelical denominations have made great advance, while their foreign missionary work has not lapsed or lagged. The membership of these denominations is everywhere larger than it was. They are full of life, and there is no sign of their decline in either material or spiritual strength.

Trade Schools.

A young newspaper woman gave not long since her experience trying to learn dressmaking and millinery in private establishments. These were places that advertised that they would teach girls for the work the pupil did. The mistresses of the schools kept shop in the front and served customers, while their pupils did work at the back. The scheme seemed mainly an effort of the keepers of the establishments to get apprentice work for nothing. The girls were unable to acquire a thorough knowledge of the trade.

This would be apt to be a trouble in all private establishments or machine shops taking apprentices of either sex. The head of the establishment looks out for his own profit first, often necessarily. The apprentice may stay on one kind of work six months at a time and know nothing of any other branches. As a method of learning a trade to earn one's living by serving apprenticeship in private establishments is not usually a success unless the head is different from most people. Conditions have changed so. The master cannot take time to instruct.

The best way for a young man or woman to get a mechanical occupation in this generation is to attend the excellent trade schools that have been founded in some of the largest cities, like the Pratt institute in Brooklyn and Drexel institute in Philadelphia. In time benevolent and intelligent citizens will see to it that there are such admirable trade schools in all our cities.

One of the New York city newspapers interviewed a number of successful and well known men and women the other day to see if they had any regrets at days misspent. Vice President Stevenson, Tom Reed, Dr. Depew, Ward McAllister, Corbett, Lulu Pense, Ella Wheeler Wilcox and Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher were among those consulted, and as a rule they seemed to be very well satisfied with the past. Some of those questioned acknowledged their mistakes, but thought these peccadillos served as guides and warnings for the life that followed. The fact is, everybody has made mistakes, more or less, not excepting Moses. But there is this difference between a wise man and a fool—the wise man keeps his follies to himself, and the fool publishes them to the world. And there is another difference also—the wise man changes his mind and thus corrects his mistakes, but the fool never does.

Right Every Time.

Senator Hawley of Connecticut was met in the senate lobby by a newspaper man on the day the news came of Admiral Benham's firing on the Brazilian rebel ships. He hadn't heard the news. But when he was asked what he thought of the American naval officer's action he promptly replied, "He did just right."

"But," said the correspondent, "you don't know what he did, senator."

"I don't care a —— what he did," the senator replied. "He is an American in command of our squadron. And whatever he did was right."—Detroit Free Press.

HUMOR

WASN'T SURE.

But Upon Consideration Concluded Not to Have the Other Arrested.

"Are you a policeman?" he asked as he halted a patrolman of Jefferson avenue yesterday.

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"Reg'lar policeman, eh?"

"Yes."

"Do you see that left eye of mine?"

"I couldn't very well help seeing it. Somebody must have landed on that eye, and before night it will be as black as your hat."

"Yes. A feller down here hauled off and banged me and knocked me clear into the street. I saw about a million stars when he landed."

"And you want him arrested, of course?"

"I dunno. I thought I'd ask your advice about it. You are an older man than I am and have probably traveled around more. You see, I called him a sterilized scoundrel."

"Oh, you did?"

"That made him mad, but he didn't hit me till I called him a phosphated liar."

"I see."

"That would sort o' knock my case out in court, wouldn't it?"

"I think it would."

"And another thing, when you see a feller with a black eye, you naturally reason that he's a fighter, don't you?"

"Yes, that is the inference."

"Reg'lar cyclone on wheels, so to speak, and a dangerous man to fool with?"

"Yes."

"While he's got one black eye you naturally infer that he gave the other feller two, eh?"

"Yes."

"Waal, that's what I want, and you needn't trouble yourself about the case. I'm goin out home and show this eye off and spit over my shoulder and go around lookin powerful ugly, and I'm bettin $10 to a cent that nobody in our township dares to knock a chip off my shoulder."—Detroit Free Press.

At the Bargain Counter.

She was a well dressed woman of imposing mind and rasping voice, and she gradually worked her way toward the center of a small crowd of other women who were concentrating their attention upon a pile of cute little teapots being sold for 5 cents each. Four bored looking young women were waiting on the crowd and answering questions. Cash girls were struggling back and forth with pots in wrappers and pots about to be wrapped up and bringing change. The big woman finally got her inning.

"How much did you say?"

"Five cents, madam." The price was marked on a great white placard that could be seen a block.

"Five cents for this one?"

"Yes, madam."

"How much for the green kind?"

"Five cents."

"Are they damaged?" taking one up and shaking it and looking it all over for holes.

"No."

"How can you afford to sell them so cheap? There's probably something the matter with them."

"Oh, no; they're cheap goods. Have that one?"

"Y-e-s; no, I'll take a green one." She fished out 5 cents. "Here is my address."

"Excuse me, madam. We can't deliver them."

"Wha-a-t? You don't s'pose I'm going to carry that all the way home! Gimme that 5 cents."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Total Ignorance.

"I," said Jennison in a loud voice that could be heard all over the church—"I believe in giving unostentatiously, in concealing from my left hand what my right hand doeth. I don't suppose anybody here knows that I gave $500 toward the new organ fund."

"No," said Jinglebury, "not even the treasurer of the fund."—Harper's Bazar.

Sour Grapes.

Mr. Cynic—Always?

Miss Pert—Invariably.

Mr. Cynic—And can nothing ever change your determination when you once make up your mind?

Miss Pert—Absolutely nothing.

Mr. Cynic—Well, I wouldn't care to marry a woman like that.—Brooklyn Life.

THE CHINESE NEW YEAR.

Day For Settling Financial Accounts and Squaring Trespasses.

[Special Correspondence.]

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5.—The Chinese New Year begins on Feb. 7. Last year it began on Feb. 16. Their New Year's day is regulated by the moon. The first new moon of February ushers in the New Year. The calendars and almanacs are figured out at a grand council of astronomers in Peking and sent out to the Chinese in every portion of the world. The incoming year will contain 12 months. The outgoing year has 13 months, having an extra month or two Junes. This intercalary month is inserted about every third year, which the Chinese call leap year. The Chinese months are each 29 and 30 days in length. Not one in the calendar contains 31 days. Their month is not divided into weeks, and they have no Sunday or day of rest. The year is dated from the beginning of a dynasty. When a new reign begins, they begin with the year 1.

The Chinese almanac is about eight inches in length, and the pages are about three inches wide, the lines written vertically, beginning at the bottom. It does not contain advertisements of quack nostrums to be shaken before taken, but sketches of history, mainly of the present dynasty, and astrological notes.

The New Year's calling cards are also imported from China. The card is of thin paper, about seven inches in length by about four inches wide. It is crimson red, and the name of the caller is written or marked on the lower left hand corner, so that when the card is folded lengthwise in the middle and then doubled over from the center only one-fourth of the card appears, and the name of the caller is in the center of the presented card.

The men do not call upon the ladies excepting by families, and then it is in the nature of a social call to sip tea and smoke. The young men begin to call upon each other about daylight, but the more sedate and business men wait until a later hour. The young Chinese women call upon those of their age and "set," and then upon the wives of the merchants. These calls are made in the afternoon, but the men call upon each other at any time. At every house tea is offered in tiny, thin, waferlike cups, and it is genuine tea. All kinds of preserves, confections, etc., freshly imported from China, are offered to the visitor, and on departing he is given a small paper of confections, a silk handkerchief or other token of remembrance. If a costly present is made, the recipient invariably tenders one of about equal value to the donor.

Unmarried men do not call upon young women at this or any other time—they meet at dinners given for the purpose of social intercourse. During the New Year's festivities, which last about two weeks, there is a dinner every day given in turn by the merchants. A Chinaman will not work during the holidays unless compelled by necessity. Business is practically suspended, but with the poorer class the festivities last only two or three days. The wealthiest merchants sometimes take a vacation trip to China and doubly celebrate the New Year by bringing back an additional wife.

The calling cards are pasted on the walls of the receiver's reception room, and he may at any time read over his list of acquaintances at a glance.

Firecrackers are imported in "strings" about 10 feet in length, the "strings" containing from 6,000 to 10,000 each and costing from $5 to $20 or $25, according to their explosive qualities. On New Year's evening more especially the restaurants and josshouses are brilliantly illuminated with Chinese lanterns of every color and design from that of a dragon with 10 heads to a fairy, all wings. A string of these firecrackers is suspended from a pole and lighted. As soon as they have all exploded another and another is fired, and the din is terrific, also the expense. In addition bombs of the greatest explosive powers are being fired, and rockets of varicolored hues are being sent up, literally illuminating the entire Chinese quarter. Those who have been successful in playing tan, their favorite game of chance, are especially demonstrative on this occasion.

Every sinner is expected to visit the josshouse and receive forgiveness for his many sins of the past year. The josshouse is always open, and it is well patronized at this season. A Chinaman dressed in his most elaborate costume, enters and purchases a small piece of paper from a man near the door. The paper is about half the size of the New Year's card, is punctured with holes, and a small portion is bronzed. This is the Chinese prayer. The devotee approaches the altar on which is a brazen, frowning god, life size. At the foot of this god is an iron receptacle from which a fire blazes. As the devotee approaches he utters an exclamation, which is answered by a man sitting behind the god. As the worshiper puts his prayer in the flames the man strikes a drum and clashes together two brass cymbals. The worshiper then takes off his shoes and kneels in front of the god, keeping on his hat—the reverse of the American custom. He repeats his prayer in silence, and after rising makes three bows, his head almost touching the floor, when he puts on his thick cork shoes and ambles out. As he is forgiven his sins, he is required to forgive those who have trespassed against him.

New Year's is also the time for settling financial accounts. If a merchant does not pay his debts, his creditors plaster his store with copies of their unpaid bills, and he may not open his store, according to Chinese ethics, until he has paid his just indebtedness. Others are blacklisted, and copies of the bills sent to the various stores and also left at the residence of the debtors. Those who refuse to pay are ostracized socially and otherwise. Workmen are generally discharged and no one will employ them. The debt must be proved, however. The creditor makes a statement, and the debtor makes his. The credibility of both is taken into consideration by the special council, before whom such matters come, and decided accordingly.

A Forty Mile Ride.

E. R. Swetnam, of Fairfax Station, Virginia, says: "A party came forty miles to my store for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and bought a dozen bottles. The remedy is a great favorite in this vicinity and has performed some wonderful cures here." It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough and is a favorite wherever known. For sale by druggists.

EX-MINISTER TO AUSTRIA.

Hon. John M. Francis, One of the Thousands Whom Paine's Celery Compound Has Benefitted.

Among the men of international reputation in America no one deserves better of his country than Hon. John M. Francis, ex-minister to Austria.

The highest political honors have come to him unsought. President Grant appointed him minister to Greece. President Garfield had chosen him for the mission to Belgium. President Arthur appointed him minister to Portugal, and in 1881 he was promoted to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Austria-Hungary, with a residence at Vienna.

At the last New York state election Mr. Francis was chosen one of the fifteen delegates-at-large to the constitutional convention, which is to sit in Albany next summer, and his majority was the largest on the state ticket.

Mr. Francis is conspicuous among the really editors of today as the founder, editor and proprietor of the Troy Times, which he has made a live, enterprising, clean and popular paper, and one of the ablest and most influential exponents of republicanism in the country.

The life and labors of Mr. Francis present one of the most attractive and instructive objects which one can contemplate. Industry, conscientiousness, absolute fidelity to duty, and preference for a high plane of moral conduct have been conspicuous traits of his character. They were the adequate guarantee of the eminent success that has crowned his efforts, and of the tribute of esteem that is paid to him.

Mr. Francis, though he has reached the psalmist's allotted three score and ten, is in excellent health, and mentally vigorous and alert. The first of the year he went to California with his daughter to spend a few months.

Before going he requested Mr. William B. Wilson, who, under Mr. Francis and his son, Hon. C. S. Francis, is the wide awake head of the business department of the Times, to say for him to the proprietors of Paine's celery compound: "I have used the medicine moderately and with favorable results."

The expression is characteristic of the dignified and conservative gentlemen who, as last fall's vote shows, is in the right sense the most popular citizen of the empire state.

Mr. Wilson, himself, writing an unsolicited letter to Wells and Richardson company, says of this wonderful remedy that makes people well:

'For some time past I have been using Paine's celery compound as a nervine and tonic, and have found its effects very beneficial. I have heard and known of its good work among my friends, several saying that they 'could not keep house without it,' and never allow their supply to become exhausted. I shall always stand ready to say a good word for Paine's celery compound, for I honestly believe that it will do all that is claimed for it."

Among the thousands of testimonials that come to the proprietors of Paine's celery compound every year, are letters from grateful men and women in every station of life. Little did Dartmouth's great professor realize the greatness of his benefit to mankind when he first prescribed this remedy that makes people well, and in the spring months—March, April, May—is as much superior to all the ordinary tonics, nervines and sarsaparillas as the diamond is more brilliant than a piece of glass. It is the best spring medicine in the world. It makes people well.

It is the true specific for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system and impure blood. It is a positive cure for dyspepsia, biliousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, all nervous diseases and kidney troubles. For the latter Paine's celery compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

The medical journals of this country and Europe have given more space to the many remarkable cases where the use of Paine's celery compound has made people well than any other one subject.

With a week's washing on hand
There is nothing so handy
—as—

Soak, Soak; boil, boil; rinse, rinse away,
And scarcely see the board at all, upon a washing day.
For SANTA CLAUS SOAP it does the work,
And toil is changed to play,
While gaily sings
the laundry maid,
upon a washing day.

"NOTHING NEW TODAY"

Was the Greeting the Reporter Received on All Sides.

A Few Are Sick, Some Are Out Of Town, But Nothing of Importance Has Transpired.

E. F. Seybold, a helper in the Wabash boiler shop, is sick and off duty.

Charles Schrick resigned his position in the Wabash boiler shop to engage in sodding lawns.

G. E. Ridgeley left over the Nickel Plate yesterday for California, to remain several weeks.

J. O. Goff, day operator in the Lake Shore offices, has gone to Fremont, Ohio, to spend a few days.

Adolph Imbody, formerly of the Olds Wagon works, is now driving an ice wagon for F. H. Baade.

Machinist Gus Fromuth has completed repairs on a steam plant at Bridgeport, Ohio, and returned to the city.

V. B. Lang, late with the West Shore road, has been appointed master mechanic of the Louisville Southern.

The Wabash stockholders hold a meeting at St. Louis yesterday and the Pennsylvania stockholders at Philadelphia.

The Big Four, in connection with the Chesapeake and Ohio road, will put on through trains between Washington and Chicago in April.

W. R. McKeen, president of the Vandalia lines, is lying dangerously ill at his home in Terre Haute. He suffers with heart disease.

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul has put into operation the block system of running trains between Chicago and Council Bluffs.

In 1893 the Pennsylvania company expended on its lines west of Pittsburg for track and additional rolling stock the sum of $1,523,018.

Machinist John Casey was apprised by a telegram yesterday of the death of his father, who lived at Marion, Ohio. Mr. Casey left last evening for that city.

Henry Dryer and Joseph Carry, blacksmiths at the Pittsburg shops, are off duty, the former on account of business and the latter on account of sickness.

Friendship lodge No. 70, International Association of Machinists, will hold a meeting this evening. Some important business will come before the union and a full attendance is desired.

A lung tester afforded amusement for the machinists in the Pittsburg shops during the noon hour yesterday. F. C. Meyers proved that his lungs were all right by successfully operating the tester.

William Bong, the veteran machinist in the Pittsburg shops, is able to walk out when the weather is pleasant. He gains strength very slowly, however, and it will be some time before he will be able to resume work.

Great floods now prevail in Idaho and the railroads are greatly inconvenienced thereby. A telegram from Boise City this morning states that a serious washout has occurred on the Oregon Short line, near Minidka, and that traffic has been interrupted for two days.

After to-day the cost to the company of running one of the Pullman dining cars a month will be $50 less than it has been for several years. The employes have suffered a reduction in wages equal to that amount. Sleeping car employes in the Pullman service will also be affected by the cut in salaries.

The present train schedule on the Pittsburg is not to continue, if there is truth in the rumor now in circulation. The present arrangement is not satisfactory to the patrons of the road and they have made a vigorous protest to the effect, so the rumor goes, that the company has about made up its mind to restore the local passenger service within the next two or three weeks. As trains now run, traveling men are unable to cover their territory in the time allotted them and they complain bitterly thereof.

There was an unexpected increase in eastbound shipments out of Chicago last week and in consequence there are hints of rate cutting. All the roads, however, repudiate the charge. The shipments amounted to 85,955 tons against 67,940 tons for the preceding week and 83,758 tons for the corresponding week of 1893. Fort Wayne lines carried freight as follows: Nickel Plate, 10,332 tons; Wabash, 10,114 tons; Pittsburg, 8,377 tons. For the second time this year the Nickel Plate leads other Fort Wayne lines in the volume of eastbound shipments.

Horsemen are disposed to "kick" against the increased freight rates which went into effect on all roads January 1. Prior to that date horses were to be carried at so much one hundred pounds, weight to be 3,000 pounds, regardless of the size of the horse, and stallions, 4,000 pounds. Under the new classification all horses are billed at 4,000 pounds and stallions at 5,000. The horsemen say that the business of carrying horses had quadrupled in the last five years, so many new race tracks have been opened, and they think it unfair for the roads to increase the rate practically 33 per cent.

Twenty five tramps boarded a freight train Monday night at the south yards of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road at Grand Rapids, and on nearing Wayland, took possession of the train, terrorizing the few passengers and trainmen. They overpowered one passenger taking his money and gold watch. The conductor, on reaching the caboose, ordered the tramps to give up their plunder and get off the train. One drew a revolver on the conductor, and told him to get out of the way or he would kill him. The three trainmen were quieted in the same manner. The police authorities at Kalamazoo were notified, and on the arrival of the train fourteen of the tramps, after a fierce resistance, were arrested. A large amount of plunder was found in possession of the gang.

BISMARCK.

One of the Canine Family of Great Danes.

The Great Dane dogs which Bismarck takes with him on all his walks, and that are seen lying at his feet in pictures, are very gentle. They have the softest mouths in the world and will not harm any one. In fact, a Great Dane dog does not make the best watchman because he is so gentle. There are a few of these noble dogs in this country.

One day, not long ago, a Great Dane owned by a young girl was crossing Central Park, New York, when a laborer passed with a pail of beer. Instantly Bismarck, as the dog is named, ran after the man, and sticking his mug in the pail, drank it almost dry with two or three laps of his big tongue. The laborer was so frightened that he dropped the pail and ran. Bismarck is as tall as a Shetland pony of small size, and is a sort of drab in color. He is the prettiest Great Dane in this country.

BISMARCK.

ETCHINGS AND ECHOES.

Sealing wax as a method of closing a letter has rallied from disuse and is again in vogue.

The United States government is building at the mouth of the Columbia river a jetty, which is intended to be, when completed, the longest ever constructed.

The value of the fire drill in schools has been shown again in New York, where several hundred pupils were marched out of a burning building to the music furnished by a teacher upon a piano.

The issue of Columbian stamps from January 3 to December 31, 1893, the period assigned to their distribution, is the subject of a statement which has been prepared by the post-office department officials. The aggregate number issued to postmasters was 1,093,083,300.

There were 33,136 locomotives engaged in hauling passengers and freight over the railways of this country last year; 8,818 in hauling passenger trains alone. To transport the passenger traffic of the country 28,875 cars were in operation, while for the conveyance of freight nearly half a million cars were required.

Probably the largest submarine cable ever laid in this country was stretched under the East river from the foot of Eighty-eighth Street, Hunter's point, New York. The cable measures nearly a mile in length, two and three-fourths inches in circumference and weighs twenty-one tons. It contains twenty conductors, each consisting of three fine copper wires.

The "Bridge of Sighs," which connects the new criminal court with the Tombs, in New York city, is completed. The bridge is a handsome covered way constructed of steel and sheet iron. It is about sixty feet in length, ten feet in height and ten feet wide. Prisoners on their way to trial and those who have received sentence will pass across this bridge instead of being transferred in the clumsy old "Black Maria." The bridge will thus save many thousands of dollars yearly in deputy sheriffs' fees. The "Bridge of Sighs" gets its name from a famed bridge in Venice, over which persons condemned to death were led.

Best of All.

To cleanse the system in a gentle and truly beneficial manner, when the Springtime comes, use the true and perfect remedy, Syrup of Figs. One bottle will answer for all the family and costs only 50 cents; the large size $1. Try it and be pleased. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

Rheumatism Quickly Cured.

Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism; but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right to-day; and would insist on everyone who is afflicted with the terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

An Electric Railway.

It now seems likely that work on the proposed Washington & Baltimore Electric railway will soon begin. The distance is something like thirty miles. It is the purpose of the company to equip the line with model vestibule trains, make the trip between the two cities in about one hour and the rate $1 for the round trip. It is also reported that the plan to connect the cities of New York and Philadelphia by a trolley line has assumed definite shape.

THE DIAMOND FIELD.

SIZING UP THE BASEBALL CLUBS.

Every Team in the National League Is Prepared to Win the Pennant—Strength Evenly Divided and a Heated Contest Will Result.

AS THE TIME APPROACHES for the opening of the baseball season the enthusiasts all over the country, and they are legion, are beginning to "size up" the different teams and to comment upon the chances of the different clubs. This not only applies to the twelve fortunate cities represented in the National league, but to the various colleges, amateur associations and to the hundred and one minor leagues, from the eastern, western and southern leagues to the less pretentious State and Interstate organizations.

The National league race, however, overshadows all the others in importance, and the long chase for the pennant this year promises to eclipse that of any previous year. This prediction can be made without fear of contradiction, for while some sports have lagged behind, baseball has kept up with the times. That it will continue to do so seems assured, for the men at the head of league affairs are sound business men who know what is going on in the world.

As predicted, few changes will be made in the rules this year, for the very simple reason that few changes are needed. They were needed in a year and they were made, and the changes worked to a charm. The bunt hit will be penalized, and that is about the only emphatic change to be made. A few of the rules which have not been clearly interpreted by certain umpires and captains will be made more clear, that is all. The game as it was played last year could not be improved upon to any appreciable extent, and the club owners know this.

The magnates may decide on boisterous tactics and several players who were guilty of rough work last year will be cautioned not to repeat their offense. This does not mean that the league intends to frown upon aggressive play in baseball—far from it. Baseball is not a parlor pastime, and it never will be. The effort is simply to stop brutality and obscenity, and this will be done, and the league does not care whose toes are trod upon either.

Several clubs are still working deals for the exchange of certain players, yet a pretty fair idea can now be had of the make-up of most of the teams in the league. New York and Brooklyn have been strengthened materially, and both teams ought to make a much better showing than they did last year.

At Boston the enthusiasts of the Hub are confident that their champions will be able to repeat their record of 1892 and 1893. I do not believe it. Bennett's death will be a severe blow to the champions, greater I am convinced than the friends of the club seem to think. The policy of releasing Carroll and putting an untried man in his place does not help their chances. Boston must work out many new tricks during the coming season to be as formidable as they were last year.

The New York team has been strengthened to-day fully 15 per cent and if certain other men are secured the Giant's chances will look second to none in the League. Brooklyn has been strengthened in both the infield and outfield, and with careful management the Grooms' pennant chances look good.

Philadelphia tries the experiment of new management, but whether the hustling efforts of Arthur Irwin will prove better than the steady business methods of Harry Wright time alone will tell. Baltimore will have a hustling young team, and the Orioles have also been strengthened in batting. Washington has a new manager and a lot of heavy batting young bloods who hope to pull the Senators out of last place.

Chicago's chances look better than last year, as practice has improved Anson's Colts. Chicago has not a pennant winner, however. Pittsburg has a great team, although the Italians will miss Van Haltren more than they think. Pittsburg's danger lies in her old players, because veterans stiffen up quickly and without any notice. A few more young players would make Pittsburg's chances look brighter.

Cleveland has another two-three-or-four team, but I hardly think a pennant winner. The Spiders ought to finish in the first division, and that ought to be prospects enough for a town of that size. The Colonels ought to play good ball this year, and Louisville can be congratulated in having Billy Barnie at the helm.

If Harry Wright goes to St. Louis the Browns' chances will look better. I do not like Cincinnati's chances at present, but John T. Brush may be depended upon to do something handsome for the Porkopolitans between now and the opening of the championship season.

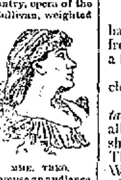
J. E. S.

ABOUT OPERA BOUFFE.

Mme. Theo, the Charming French Diva, Has Her Say.

Theophile Gautier says somewhere that pantomime is the foundation of the drama. Esprit is as truly the backbone of opera bouffe. It exists by its wit, singing and dancing and talking itself into favor whenever it is given a hearing.

To comic opera as it is known in England and in this country, opera of the style of Sir Arthur Sullivan, weighted down with Gilbertian mirth, opera bouffe bears no relationship. The former is picturesquely funny, its humor grotesque and droll, but the gorgeous Mikado, the love-sick maidens in yellow-green gowns, even charming Little Buttercup could not amuse an audience at the Bouffes or the Folies Dramatiques like La Jolie Parfumeuse, Mme. l'Archiduc or La Fille du Tambour Major.



MME. THEO.

Opera bouffe is a product peculiar to France, indigenous to Paris. It flourishes elsewhere, not with the exuberance it does there, but in a way, however, thrifty enough to fill managerial pockets. It must originate in Paris, have the chic which nothing but Parisian clothing of ideas in snappy, if occasionally somewhat risque dialogue, will give it.

Its plot has something on which to hang, and around that central idea, a quantity of daintily attired nothings, in brightest, flimsiest and airiest of dress, vibrate to music which has the sparkle and effervescence particularly agreeable to Gallic palates. The story scintillates, snaps, the music keeps up a correspondingly gay pace, and both go on merrily, making jests of serious matters, and fun even of history, as in the case of "La Belle Helene."

MLLE. D'ARY.

The Demure Little Maiden Who Has Kicked Herself Into Fame.

A demure, mild-mannered, soft-voiced young woman is Mlle. Arman d'Ary, the well-known "chanteuse Parisienne," who recently made her American debut in New York.

MLLE. ARMAN D'ARY.

Her method is dainty rather than suggestive, her personality a most charming one and her costumes marvels of coloring and brilliancy. Mlle. d'Ary does not dance; if she did it would rob her of her great charm, composure; but she has a kick that is a marvel of agility as it is sensational in its unexpectedness.

Abroad Mlle. d'Ary is recognized as the one great rival of Vaneq.

SPORTING SPLINTERS.

Milligan and Baldwin have been notified of their release by the New Yorks.

Phil King and Trenchard have started to train for the Princeton baseball team.

Explayer James O'Rourke has, it is reported, been decided upon for the umpire corps by President Young.

Manager Ed Hanlon has bet $500 with Al Johnson of the Cleveland club, that the Orioles would finish ahead of the Clevelands this season. The money has been deposited with Frank J. Simpson of the St. James hotel.

THE DIAMOND.

Boston will not have Pitcher Staton this year.

Pittsburg will admittedly have a "banner" team the coming season with colors of red, white and blue.

Manager Buckenberger of Pittsburg was formerly a second baseman. He has been a manager since 1886.

Anson says he will play first base for the Chicago club the coming season, despite all reports to the contrary.

Manager Hanlon is making arrangements to take his Baltimore team on a southern trip starting March 21.

CRICKET.

A Massachusetts cricket association is to be organized. A committee of seven from various clubs have been appointed to draw up a constitution.

An English cricket team will visit Australia in the autumn under the management of A. E. Stoddard. This gentleman was asked to undertake the task, as Lord Sheffield declined to repeat his visit to the colonies of 1891-92. Preliminary steps have already been taken in furtherance of the scheme.

The Central New York Trapshooters' association was organized at Syracuse, Feb. 26. A handsome silver cup will go to the team making the best average. The dates of the shoot follow: Auburn, March 28, April 29; Rochester, April 25, Sept. 26; Utica, May 30, Oct. 24; Syracuse, July 25, Nov. 23.

The Brighton Gun club and the Roseville Gun club held a shoot on the grounds of the former in East Orange, Feb. 22. The Brighton club won by 103 to 88.

There is a Woman

in Philadelphia who lived for years in a daily circle of suffering, because she thought there was no relief.

Her suffering was caused by female weakness in its worst forms. She had pain in her back and loins, great fatigue from walking, leucorrhœa, and a frequent desire to urinate.

All this time relief was close at hand.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her of all weakness and disease, and she is now a different woman. This woman is Mrs. Walter Wilcox, of 736 West St., who advises all women who suffer so from female weaknesses to try it also and be cured. It expels tumors, removes backache, invigorates the system.

All druggists keep it for you.

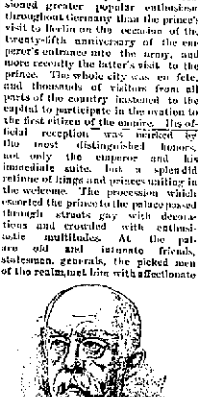
GERMANY'S GRAND OLD MAN

Prince Bismarck Still the Idol of the German People.

The reconciliation of Prince Bismarck with the Emperor of Germany is the most picturesque incident of recent political history. It is scarcely, as it seems to be regarded in some quarters, an affair of international importance, but the fact that it is so considered is at once a tribute to the genius, and a recognition of the commanding statesmanship of the man who for a decade and a half dominated European politics. It must be said, too, that whatever may have been the motive of the emperor in seeking this reconciliation—whether it was inspired by a desire to strengthen himself with the disaffected following of the prince or by a conviction that he has been unjust and ungrateful in his treatment of the creator of the empire—his action is alike wise and worthy of a great and powerful sovereign.

No event for many years has occasioned greater popular enthusiasm throughout Germany than the prince's visit to Berlin on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the emperor's entrance into the army, and more recently the latter's visit to the prince. The whole city was en fete, and thousands of visitors from all parts of the country hastened to the capital to participate in the ovation to the first citizen of the empire. His official reception was marked by the most distinguished honors, not only the emperor and his immediate suite, but a splendid retinue of kings and princes uniting in the welcome. The procession which escorted the prince to the palace passed through streets gay with decorations and crowded with enthusiastic multitudes. At the palace old and intimate friends, statesmen, generals, the picked men of the realm, met him with affectionate greetings. It was his day of vindication—a vindication unduly deferred, but complete and full at last. A great life, a career of loyal and abundant service, could have no grander climax, no brighter crown, than this which has come to Bismarck in the deepening twilight of his days.



LATEST PORTRAIT OF PRINCE BISMARCK.

CORBETT AND JACKSON.

Latest Developments in the Search for a Place to Fight.

There have been many reports of localities offering large purses for the Corbett-Jackson fight, and some of these are evidently made in good faith, but the most solid looking proposal comes from Mount Clemens, in Michigan. The following dispatch was received by Parson Davies last week. It is the report of the action of a committee authorized to take the necessary steps to secure the fight.

"Matters are shaping satisfactory. Eminent counsel doubtful about Strawberry Island being in this state, as it is middle ground made during the past few years. Protection ample. Committee, every one of whom is perfectly responsible, are willing to guarantee purse of $15,000 and training expenses. E. B. Kenow."

Mr. Davies met some members of this committee in Detroit, and he appears to be impressed with their earnestness in the matter.

"Parson" Davies has received a cablegram from Lord Lonsdale, who is taking exceptional interest in the match, and he says he will try to raise a purse in London for the fight. It is understood that neither of the fighters will agree to go across the water to box for a smaller purse than £5,000, which, allowing for the expenses to be incurred in taking the parties over, would mean less than $20,000 in this country. Lonsdale fully understands that and the offers, if any are made, will undoubtedly exceed that figure.

The "London Sportsman" says it learns on the authority of a friend of one of the principals that Jackson and Corbett have no idea of attempting to settle their contest in the United States. They do not care to be badgered by clubs and authorities as was the case in the Mitchell-Corbett match. The event is almost certain to be settled at the National Sporting club in London.

Sable Island.

Sable island is famous throughout the Canadian maritime provinces for its race of wild ponies. The little creatures were originally placed upon the island in order that they might furnish food for shipwrecked mariners frequently cast away there. The coarse salt grass of the island is cured and stacked in summer time, and upon this the ponies feed all winter. It is said that they eat their way deep into the stacks and thus find their only shelter from the storms. There is a tradition current that they even eat fish cast upon the shore. Considerable droves of the ponies are taken to the mainland in early autumn, and they are sold in the Halifax market.

W. P. Boggus of Covington, Ga., wears a ring made from the bone of an Indian warrior whose remains were recently exhumed on Dog branch, near Covington. There were a number of curiosities in the place where the body was found, such as beads, stone pipe, ax, flints, etc., and by these it was presumed to be the bones of "Big Dog," the Indian chief after which the branch took its peculiar name in the year 1798.

They Want the Best.

"The people of this vicinity insist on having Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and do not want any other," says John V. Bishop, of Portland Mills, Indiana. That is right. They know it to be superior to any other for colds, and as a preventive and cure for croup, and why should they not insist upon having it? 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

NEWS NOTES.

Rev. Reed William, of New York, is in the city.

Let all the churches commence next Sunday on standard time.

Turn your watch back. Fort Wayne is now running on standard time.

Standard time allows us to sleep twenty minutes later in the morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Howenstein will leave in a few days to locate near Nashville, Tenn.

Judge Robert Lowry has gone to Bowling Green, Ohio, on professional business.

Mrs. Dr. Weber, of Columbia City, is visiting Mrs. A. W. Melsker, of 525 South Broadway.

Standard time enables a fellow to stay up with his best girl twenty minutes later at night.

Rev. J. W. Paschall will preach at the Evangelistic services at Berry street Methodist Episcopal church tonight.

Adopt standard time. Turn your watch back today and join the big procession which started right this morning.

W. E. Dodd, the new partner of C. F. Everett in the real estate business, moved to the city from Defiance, Ohio, yesterday.

The announcement of Elza T. Stringer for mayor, subject to the decision of the democratic primary, appears in THE SENTINEL today.

Henry C. Graffe says the difference between standard and city time is twenty minutes. Arrange your timepieces accordingly at once.

Mr. J. C. Peltier announces himself in today's SENTINEL as a candidate for auditor of Allen county, subject to the decision of the democratic nominating convention.

The delivery team of Gus Kahe, who conducts a grocery business at the corner of Horace and Gay streets, ran away on South Lafayette street last evening at 4 o'clock. No serious damage resulted.

The name of E. V. Emrick, formerly deputy prosecuting attorney, is announced in today's SENTINEL as a candidate for the office of prosecuting attorney, subject to the decision of the democratic nominating convention.

At the farewell reception given Prof. and Mrs. Brannon at the Presbyterian church last evening, Prof. Standish rendered a violin solo which was encored. Master Barrows, the treble soloist of the Episcopal choir, by request, sang "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," and was compelled to respond to an encore.

Miss Frederika Koehnlein, aged nineteen years, died last night at the home of her sister, Mrs. Pauline Albrecht, No. 57 Hendricks street. The cause of her death was dropsy of the heart. The father and mother of the deceased are both dead and Frederika has been making her home with her sister. No time has been set for the funeral, but it will probably be held Sunday.

The Standard base ball club has reorganized under the management of L. Jantz and is ready to defend the amateur championship of the city. The T. H. E. club will be entertained tomorrow evening by Miss Helen Moffatt.

E. P. Williams and F. C. Meyers left over the Pittsburg for New York last night.

The engagement of Miss Emilie Haugk to Mr. Charles Grote, has been announced.

Mrs. Will Rossman, of Columbia City, was the guest of friends in this city last evening.

Mrs. A. Mergentheim, accompanied by Miss Doherty, will return from Chicago this evening.

Miss McCaskey, of Cecil, Ohio, is visiting her cousins, Dr. and Mrs. McCaskey, of this city.

The Laetitia club will meet tomorrow evening at Mrs. Kampe's home, on West Jefferson street.

Miss Gertrude Goring, who recently visited friends in this city, is lying quite ill at her home in Huntington.

The Misses Swinney will entertain a few friends at tea on Thursday evening in compliment to Miss Ellen Spencer.

Mrs. W. S. Bash has returned from a visit of several weeks with Mrs. W. W. Worthington at Colwell, N. J., near New York city.

Mrs. Malcomb, of Chicago, has returned to her home after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. Wishart, of West DeWald street.

Mrs. H. F. France and Mrs. Thomas Warner entertained the Afternoon Pedro club today, at Mrs. Warner's home, on South Harrison street.

Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Carver, of La Otto, were in the city yesterday to attend the graduating exercises of the Fort Wayne College of Medicine.

Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Dickerson, of Atlanta, Ga., arrived in the city last evening to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gruber for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Meyer, of St. Louis, are rejoicing over the arrival of a son. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. W. Meyer, of this city, left for St. Louis last evening.

Mrs. Mary S. McGrear, the mother of Dr. McGrear, went to Garrett, Ind., having been called there by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Skilling, who is now eighty-six years old.

The 94 club will hold a meeting tomorrow evening at the home of Miss Jeanette Humphrey on the south side. Section B has prepared an unusually good program with which to entertain Section A.

Mrs. H. C. Fischer, of West Creighton avenue has returned from Elkhart accompanied by her daughter, Mrs Guy Osborne, who will remain in this city for several weeks to have her eyes treated.

Miss Lizzie Huntsberger, of Harrisburg, Pa., who has been visiting her sister, in Muscatine, Iowa, has returned to this city and will be the guest of relatives for several weeks before returning home.

The Ladies' Aid society, auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans, will meet this week on Friday evening in G. A. R. hall, instead of on Thursday, on account of the production of the "Picket Line" at the Masonic Temple on Thursday.

Mrs. Ed. Lipsit has returned from St. Andrew's Bay, Florida, accompanied by Mrs. James Stewart, with whom she spent several weeks at Paducah, Ky. Mrs. Stewart is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Diffenderfer, of West DeWald street.

Miss Ida and Emma Koons very pleasantly entertained a number of their friends in honor of Miss Sadie Koons, of Ossian, Monday evening at their home on prospect avenue. The evening was spent in games and refreshments were served at a late hour.

The Wabash Plain Dealer says: "Mrs. W. J. Briggs, wife of the Erie train dispatcher, is visiting friends at Fort Wayne.—Mrs. Pence, wife of the Erie brakeman, was a departure from the city on the noon train bound for Fort Wayne, being called there by the sickness of relatives."

This afternoon at 1 o'clock Mrs. Ira P. Evans entertained with a charming luncheon at her home, on West Washington street, in honor of Miss Ellen Spencer. The table was decorated with a pretty arrangement of roses and carnations. Those present were: Miss Ellen Spencer, Miss Abbie Keegan, Miss Emma Jenkinson, Mesdames C. D. Huestis, Charles E. Crall, Frank Poole, C. D. Winch, Stephen Morris, W. A. Croxton, C. H. Newton and G. D. Crane.

A unique departure marked the meeting of the Unity club with Mrs. William McGrath last evening when the members were treated to literary salad in place of giving the usual current events. Quotations from different authors were written on slips of paper to which were attached tissue paper lettuce leaves. These were prettily arranged in a salad bowl and a leaf was drawn by each member who was then to read the quotation and name the author of it. The program for the evening was unusually interesting.

Miss Ellen Spencer, who leaves Saturday for Indianapolis, was tendered a very delightful farewell reception last evening in the parlors of the Wayne street M. E. church, by the members of the Sunday school of which for several years she has been assistant superintendent. Miss Spencer has always taken an active part in Sunday school work and by her departure from this city the church and Sunday school lose one of their most prominent and valuable members. During the evening Rev. H. N. Eldridge, in behalf of the members of the Sunday school, presented Miss Spencer with a beautiful bunch of roses and a very handsome clock.

The Missionary society of Grace Reformed church will give a tea at the home of Mrs. Martin Connett, 171 Holman street, Thursday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

In the parlors of the First Presbyterian church last evening the local union of Christian Endeavor gave a farewell reception in honor of their president, Prof. M. A. Brannon, who will leave on Saturday for his new post at Grand Forks, North Dakota. While the reception was most delightful the pleasure was mixed with regret that the union was so soon to lose one of its most active and interested workers and one who has done so much in this city for the Christian Endeavor cause. A musical program, in which Master Ray Barrows, Professor Standish, Miss Edith Yarnelle, Miss Charlotte Lowry, Miss and Mr. Stoffer participated, was given during the evening.

With quiet simplicity and in the presence of only a few intimate friends and near relatives, the wedding of Miss Ruth, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Hemmick, to Mr. J. Wallace Caswell, was solemnized last evening at the home of the bride's parents in Columbia City. At 6 o'clock, as the Lohengrin wedding march was heard, the bride and groom, unattended, entered the parlor, and, in front of a bank of palms and ferns were met by Rev. Francis who performed the impressive ceremony of the Grace Lutheran church. The bride wore a becoming gown of brown and tan broken plaid cloth, trimmed with brown satin and a vest of white crepe. After receiving congratulations the bride and groom led the way to the dining room where an elaborate wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Caswell will reside with Dr. and Mrs. Hemmick in Columbia City. The bride is a bright and vivacious young lady who has many friends here. The groom, who was always a society leader in this city until his removal to Columbia City to engage in the dry goods business, has hosts of friends in this city. Among those in attendance at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Caswell, Mrs. Jane Minot, Mr. and Mrs. Guild, Mrs. Robinson, Messrs. Frank Phillips, Robert S. Robertson, jr., John Dougal, Ross McCulloch.

THE KENNEL.

The New York Collie club's newly-elected officers are: President, Jenkins Van Schaick; vice presidents, T. H. Terry and J. Pierpont Morgan; secretary and treasurer, J. D. Shotwell.

Count Howard, one of the most prominent English setters in the country, is dead. Pneumonia was the cause.

The rumor has gained some credence that the Philadelphia Kennel club has been prevailed upon to make a change of dates for its proposed show at Tattersalls to those claimed for the abandoned St. Louis show.

There is a probability that the American and Canadian Kennel clubs will arrive at some pleasant, reciprocal understanding whereby a mutual method of handling dog affairs will be agreed upon and a set of universal rules adopted which shall cater to the best interests of dog men on both sides of the border.

The stewards of the Harvard Athletic association have elected as stewards from the freshman class E. E. Hollister and H. W. Howe. It was voted to hold the first winter meeting on March 31.

Boston has a young athlete who it is thought may develop into a formidable rival of Mike Sweeney. His name is Phil C. Stingel and he is the champion high jumper of New England. Until lately his best record was 5 feet 10 inches, when he increased it to 6 feet. It is not thought he has yet reached his limit.

Our goods were only slightly wet. Water does not hurt leather goods. The goods are not damaged otherwise. We carried no shoddy goods.

NOTICE.

To the Physicians and Midwives of Allen County and the City of Fort Wayne.

By the returns in my possession, I find that a great many physicians of this city and county have failed to report their deaths, births and contagious diseases. Physicians in the city will report to Dr. Miller, health officer. Those in the county direct to the undersigned.

The secretary of the state board of health at Indianapolis wants me to prosecute every physician who has failed to file his reports as provided by the statutes.

Those who have not filed their reports will please do so before the end of this month and avoid prosecution.

COMMUNICATION OF WING & MAHURIN.

We again take the liberty to call your attention to the fact that our former communications to the honorable mayor and common council relative to the making of plans for the Central Fire department station has received no further attention than being received and deferred; therefore, we earnestly solicit that this one be read to the members of the common council at this meeting.

The matter being of vital importance to us we request that it receive your consideration and action. We cannot but feel that we are fully entitled to the payment of the bill since the work was done according to orders of the common council, we beg to call your attention to the decision of the common council to build a Central Fire station not to exceed in cost $8,000, and that we met with the fire commissioners together with the chief, who had prepared and presented a plan indicating his needs and requirements. After discussing the plans to some extent we gave it to the commissioners, that in our opinion the building contemplated in the plan presented by the chief could not be executed for $8,000.

The commissioners instructed us to go ahead and follow these sketches as near as possible as to the requirements and see what could be done. These sketches were then delivered to us, and are still in our office, and you are familiar with the fact that from these sketches we prepared complete plans and elevations, and made an estimate, which was about $11,000. These plans and estimates were then submitted to the common council in regular session, and were rejected, and instructions given that plans be drawn for a Central Fire station not to exceed in cost $8,000.

We then cut down the plans, exterior and interior to the least actual space for apparatus and requirements, etc. The plans and specifications were completed, but an estimate of the cost was not made by us. The revised plans and complete specifications were submitted to the common council and they advertised for bids, the lowest being $11,777. The plans, specifications and bids were again rejected by the council, owing to the excess in price, and instructions given that plans be prepared that would not cost to exceed $8,000.

This time we were obliged to ignore the general ideas and necessities previously given, and we prepared plans and specifications for a central fire station to suit the commissioners and common council in price, giving them all the space we could for the money. An estimate was made, it being $7,461, and together with the plans we submitted to the common council and was accepted, and an advertisement put in the papers for bids, it resulted in the lowest bid being $7,775.

At the next meeting of the council they changed their ideas and voted to reconsider their letting the contract for the $8,000 plan, and to adopt the former plan and let a contract for the $11,777, which was done and duly executed. Therefore, we consider there can be no question but that the common council ordered plans for a building to cost $8,000 and since the work was executed and bids received by your advertising in the papers within the amount, they as a matter of fact are indebted to us for this set of plans, although the building has been built from other plans.

The above facts are undisputed and the fact that the common council advertised for bids on these plans and received a bid below $8,000 shows not only a complete acceptance by the city, but complete performance on our part. This the city attorney will have to affirm in the admitted facts. We have been thus careful to present our claim fully, as we know there is no legal excuse for not paying it.

Therefore, we request that you consider our request and recommend the payment of our claims, which is the regular percentage for plans only, based on the amount of the lowest bid, being 3½ per cent. on $7,775, amounting to $272.12.

Respectfully submitted,
Wing & Mahurin.

The motion to refer to the fire commissioners and city attorney, was amended to receive and file.

The amendment was carried by the following vote:

Ayes, 11, viz: Councilmen Bock, Conroy, Eggemann, Hanna, Hazzard, Kelker, McClelland, Meyer, Jr., Meyer, F. C. Oakley, Pettit, Scheid, Skelton and Wolf.

Nays, 2, viz: DeVilbiss and W. D. Meyer.

J. Y. Fox and 21 others petitioned for the reinstatement of J. D. Carl in the fire department.

Referred to the fire commissioners.

The undersigned, owners of property abutting on the fifty alley running south from Washington street and between lots No. 102 and 103, in Hanna's addition, 150 feet in length, respectfully petition your honorable body to vacate said alley and allow each of us to appropriate an equal portion of the same. We are the only persons that will be affected in any wise by the vacation of said alley. This alley extends only from Washington street to the 11-foot alley running east and west, between Clinton and Barr streets. For this we pray.

Philip Arnotz,
Oliver P. Morgan.

Referred to committee on streets.

Geo. Seldmacher petitioned for the contract to sprinkle Barr street, from Berry street to Washington street for the sum of $4.50 per week.

Referred to committee on public grounds and buildings.

Paul F. Kinder and 68 others asked the council to approve the report of the city commissioners in the matter of opening Fourth street.

Received and filed.

Henry Schele petitioned that he be refunded the money withheld from his pay for hauling garbage.

Referred to committee on health.

Abe Weil and others remonstrated against the proposed paving of Columbia street.

Referred to committee on streets.

Philip [illegible] and 15 others remonstrated against the building of a sewer running from Third street in the first alley west of Wells street, thence west in the alley between Putnam street and Archer avenue.

Referred to committee appointed to hear objections.

Frank Dreier represented that his property on Hoagland avenue had been damaged to the extent of $20 by the grading of the said street and asked that the city make good that amount to him.

Referred to Councilmen Conroy, Eggemann, F. C. Meyer and city attorney.

Chas. Muldiffield and others remonstrated against the construction of a sewer in the alley between Cass and Wells street.

Referred to committee appointed to hear objections.

C. E. [illegible] and 27 other citizens and employes of the Pennsylvania company petitioned for the repeal of sec. 11 of the Revised Ordinances, and the passage of an ordinance adopting standard time as the time to be used by the city.

Granted by the following vote:

Ayes, [illegible], viz: Councilmen DeVilbiss, Hanna, Hazzard, Kelker, McClelland, Meyer, Jr., Meyer, F. C. Oakley, Pettit, Scheid, Skelton and Wolf.

Nays, 4, viz: Councilmen Bock, Conroy, Eggemann and W. D. Meyer.

Whereas, J. B. Coots and Johnson have agreed in writing to vacate a certain alley, which agreement, showing the location of said alley is hereto attached; and

Whereas, The said parties have petitioned this council to vacate the same, which petition is now before this council;

Whereas, This council finds that all the owners of lots abutting upon the alley proposed to be vacated have signed said agreement and petition, thereby consenting to such vacation; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the alley running from Wells street to the alley in the rear of lots No. 1 Hoffman's add. and No. 1 Beck's add. to the city of Fort Wayne, be vacated in accordance with said agreement and petition hereto attached, to take effect and be in force when said petitioners shall have procured from the city civil engineer of this city a map or plat of said proposed vacation, and shall have caused the same to be recorded in the recorder's office in the county of Allen and state of Indiana. W. H. McClelland.

Referred to committee on streets.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FINANCE.

MINORITY REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON STREETS.

On December 5, 1893, a resolution was passed by your honorable body to pave Hanna street, from Creighton avenue to Pontiac street, and a special committee was appointed to report January 8, 1894, at 7:30 p. m., to hear objections. As said committee has never reported, I hereby wish to make a minority report in favor of said improvement, as in my opinion the objections were not well taken.

B. W. Skelton,
Committee.

The motion to concur in was amended to refer to the committee on streets, city attorney and civil engineer. The amendment was carried by unanimous vote.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON STREET LIGHTS.

We, your committee on street lights would respectfully report:

In favor of petition of August Becker and others for an electric light between Fairfield avenue and [illegible].

In favor of Councilman McClelland's resolution for an electric light at the intersection of Third and North Harrison streets.

In favor of Councilman Wolf's resolution for an electric light at the intersection of Eliza and Ohio streets.

Piquant Young Faces Framed.

Some weird and startling coiffures are seen on young belles confident of their charms and pretty enough to be daring. They are slightly modified copies of the coiffures worn by stately old dames in the early part of the century, and, framing young and delicate faces, the effect is piquantly attractive. One of these is called the Amelie coiffure, and is created—for certainly such a work of art deserves the dignity of the word—by parting the hair in the center and forming on each side of the face full expanding bandeaux composed of a series of waved rolls, the ends of which are twisted and disappear at the back under the chignon, which is headed with a soft sausage roll, brought to the top of the head and apparently resting on a huge flying bow of moire ribbon. The other has two partings, a straight and a horizontal one, which divide the hair into three parts. The two in front are smooth on the brow, and are made to describe at the sides three graduated curls or rolls, placed together slantwise. A twist of shot ribbon coils round the conspicuous knot of hair loops, intermingled with a few frizettes and two ribbon loops. The back of the hair is loosely waved, and the whole arrangement appears in the Thackeray and Dickens books in every illustration. Only a peculiar kind of piquant face can put up with this severe and trying coiffure, for the tame and insipid gentle Emma type would attract little attention in a nineteenth century gathering of befrizzled and sparkling belles.
